AYAN ASIF

Profile

I'm a passionate Frontend Developer with a strong eye for clean design and user-friendly interfaces. I specialize in building responsive and modern web experiences, and I'm currently expanding my skills by stepping into Backend Development to become a more complete full-stack developer.

Experience

As a beginner Frontend Developer, I have been actively building and practicing web development skills through personal projects. I have hands-on experience with creating responsive layouts, basic web applications, and improving user interface designs. Currently, I am also exploring Backend Development to expand my technical capabilities.
